

CEILINGS DON'T BELONG IN THE SKY — ESPECIALLY GLASS ONES.

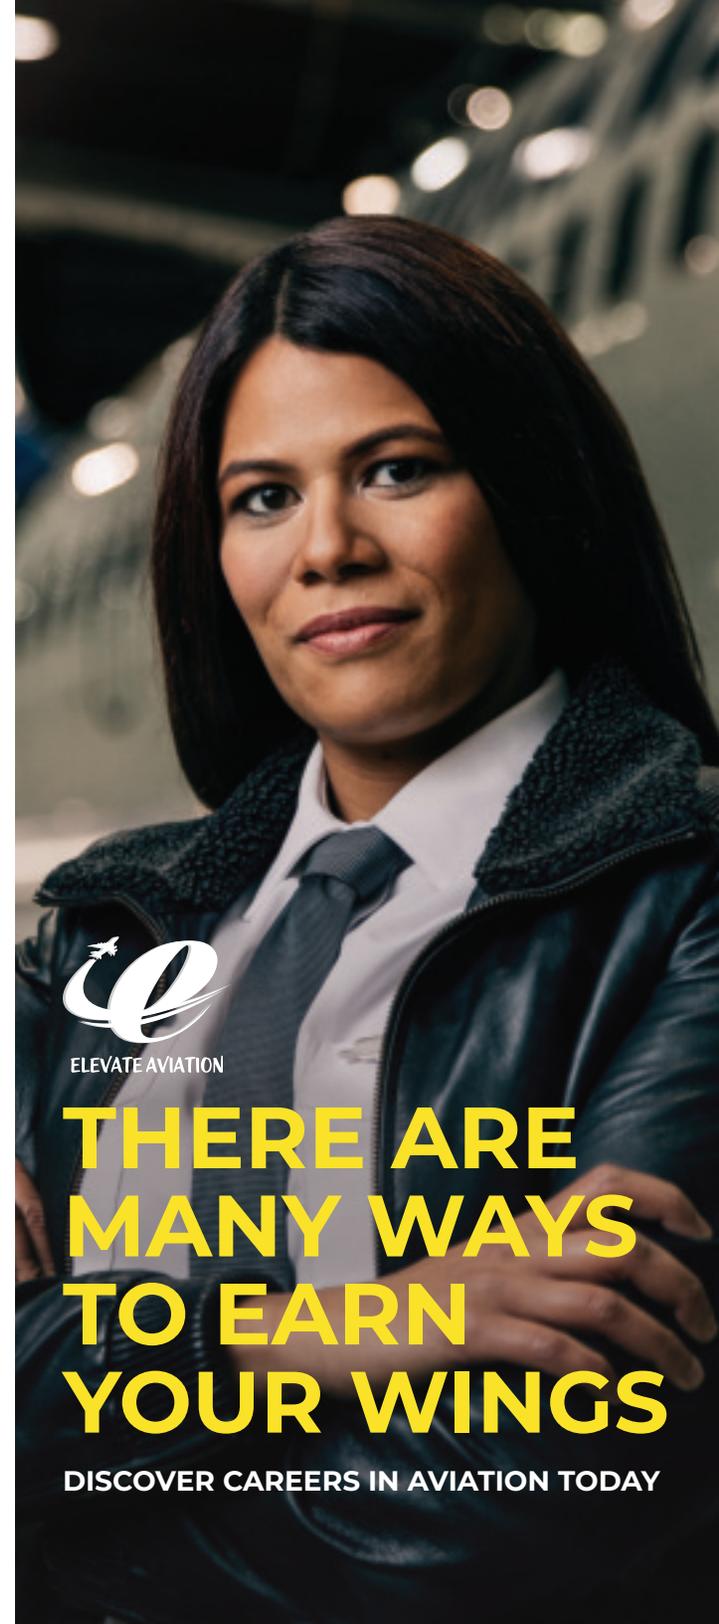

Elevate Aviation is a Canadian non-profit organization with a mission to promote gender balance in the aviation industry.

We're here to ensure that women not only discover the opportunities for amazing careers but are given every opportunity to find them, explore them and pursue them.

THERE IS NO BETTER TIME FOR YOU TO FIND YOUR WINGS.

The world doesn't have to look small to find your place in it.

While the need for pilots in Canada is strong, so too is the need for air traffic controllers, aircraft maintenance engineers and more. It's an exciting time in the world of aviation. Career opportunities are soaring as the demands of air travel increase. As the old guard steps down, the next generation of aviation specialists will meet the challenges of tomorrow — with new ideas, new faces, new strengths and new resolve.

Simply put, there is no better time for you to find your wings.

There's room in aviation for women of every skill set.

The opportunities in aviation transcend that of flying, and the careers can take you to new heights.
